Description

Ruby, CZ, and Sterling Pendant on Sterling chain. Marked on ring half of clasp in letters and numbers almost too fine to read with a 40x lighted loupe "925 ITAL". Marked on ring that holds the ring of the clasp to the chain, "1101". Chain measures about 16 1/2 " with clasp, and appears to be an omega chain. Unable to find any markings on pendant, but it is silver-colored as well, and probably sterling. Pendant is about 1 1/8" long, in the form of three ruby hearts in graduated sizes sitting one atop the others. The first heart is about 4mm wide by 4mm high; the second is about 8mm wide by 8mm high, and the third is about 1 cm by 1cm . Heart-shaped in a brilliant cut to maximize the sparkle of the jewels. The settings are open-backed and basket-type as nearly as I can judge. The first and second hearts have granulated decoration around the edges; the third has small pave diamonds set around it. The bail on the pendant is made in one piece with the basket setting on the first heart. Tested negative for Diamonds. Pendant marked 925.
